HIT AT AXIS IN BOLIVIA

Britain Joins U. S. in Refusing Recognition To New La Paz Regime.

SANTIAGO, CHILE, Jan. 25 —Argentina is expected to break relations with the axis before Saturday night, it was learned reliably today.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 25 — Britain joined the United States today in refusing to recognize the new government of Bolivia. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told commons he believed the coup in that country had been aided by German agents.

Eden said the British government was "in step" with the United States in respect both to diplomatic recognition and economic action and added the British minister-designate to La Paz would not proceed to his post. The U. S. policy of non recognition of the Bolivian revolutionary junta headed by Maj. Gualberto Villarroel was announced last night.

Referring to the coup d'etat Dec. 20 against the government of Gen. Enrique Penaranda which previously had declared war on Germany, Eden said:

"Information available to us indicates this development is connected with activities of subversive groups hostile to the cause of the United Nations which are at work in the western hemisphere.

During questioning Eden was asked several times if there was any evidence the subversive movement in South America was organized or stimulated through Spain, or involved Falangists.

The foreign secretary declared, "I believe these activities are organized in the main by German agents."

Asked whether he would try to find out what is being done not only in Bolivia but in other parts of the continent, including Uruguay and Brazil, Eden pointed out there is no German embassy in either Uruguay or Brazil, but added, "there is a German embassy in South America and I hope one day we shall see that go. When that happens I think the position will improve."

(Eden referred obviously to Argentina, the only country in the western hemisphere still...

SENATOR VAN NUYS DIES IN VIRGINIA

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON Jan. 25—Senator Frederick Van Nuys, 69-year-old chairman of the judiciary committee, died early today at his home near Vienna, Va., after a brief illness.

He had served in the senate since March 4, 1933, taking an active part in legislative affairs and leading Democratic opposition to some New Deal measures.

Last fall the Indianan started a sweeping investigation of the liquor industry, introducing a resolution calling for a probe into the shortage of whisky and alleged monopoly of supply. His committee had scheduled a hearing in this investigation today.

Van Nuys also was a member of...

Bond Sale Rallies Held At Factories

Service Flag with Gold Star Unfurled at Huber Plant; Citation Given Jack Danner at Universal Cooler.

Two Marion industrial concerns held the county's Fourth War Loan spotlight yesterday when the Huber Mfg. Co. and the Universal Cooler Corp. held rallies of all their employes to launch intensive bond-selling campaigns.

Two other important news developments grew out of these rallies.

One was the disclosure at the Huber rally that Seaman First Class Richard W. Shields of Marion, a former Huber employe, has been officially reported killed in service, having gone down after a collision of tankers off the Atlantic coast last October. The company yesterday unfurled a service flag bearing a gold star in his honor. A detailed story about his death appears elsewhere in tonight's Star.

The other was the presentation of a citation for meritorious service from the U. S. Treasury department to Jack Danner, war bond chairman at the Universal Cooler Corp. The presentation was arranged as a surprise for Mr. Danner, and was given to him when Universal Cooler workers assembled for their bond rally.

The citation was for going beyond and above the call of duty in promoting war bond sales. He served as chairman for earlier bond sale campaigns at the Universal and it was for his direction of those drives that the award was made.

Bond Total $623,397

Meanwhile, Marion county residents invested $69,220 more in war bonds yesterday, pushing the county's total up to $623,397.

E bonds accounted for $42,262.50 of yesterday's sales, bringing the county's E bond total up to $306,837.50, or another substantial step toward the county E bond quota of $819,000.

In yesterday's rallies at both the Universal Cooler and Huber plants, workers assembled in the factories at improvised platforms and heard talks by their own officials and Fourth War Loan leaders. At both places they set the stage for plant-wide drives, in which every worker will be urged to invest at least one-third of a month's income in bonds during the Fourth War Loan.

Service Flag Unfurled

Huber Co. officials staged their rally at 11 a. m. yesterday against a background of its own manpower contribution to the fighting forces. Sixteen men who were the senior members of father-and-son employe teams at the Huber before the sons entered military service were on the speakers' platform yesterday. One of them, Grover Betz, pulled a cord that unfurled a service flag bearing a gold star for Seaman Shields. It also carried a blue star with the numerals 185 under it for the 185 Huber men and women in military service.

The 15 Huber fathers of Huber sons in service, in addition to Mr. Betz, are C. F. Brockelby, T. W. Grice, Lewis Norton, Frank Orthmeyer, Sidney Gast, Roy A. Foulke, Jack Bray, Perry Rowland, L. E. Kimberling, Earl Peters, C. E. Gifford Sr., Floyd Dennis, George Bishop, Melvin Bailey Sr. and William Lloyd.

When the employes gathered at the assembly floor at 11 a. m., F. L. Hoover, Huber chairman of the Fourth War Loan drive, introduced Don A. Howard, president and general manager, who in turn introduced the 16 fathers and presented Mr. Betz for the unfurling of the service flag, which will be hung at the employes' entrance of the factory. Mr. Howard then spoke on the urgency of national and local success in the Fourth War Loan and introduced L. E. Sherer, treasury representative for the Marion County War Finance committee to work with the Huber committee. He then presented Harold J. Grigsby, payroll...

DAY AIR BLOWS IN THIRD DAY

Allied Bombers Thunder Across Channel Today To Hit French Coast.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 25—Thundering out across the English channel for the third successive day, strong formations of allied bombers hammered the French coast from Dunkerque to Boulogne today as fine flying weather succeeded a windy and turbulent night.

Observers on the English coast reported large groups of bombers and fighters launched the new assaults shortly after dawn, and soon the raiders were shuttling back and forth over the channel.

Twenty-one German planes were destroyed yesterday when escorted U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators braved bad weather to blast unspecified objectives in western Germany, a communique announced last night.

The communique said two heavy bombers, one fighter-bomber and 10 fighters were missing from the day's operations, which included allied sweeps against the French invasion coast. Both American and British planes participated in these sweeps.

Three additional Nazi planes were reported shot down yesterday morning off the Dutch coast.

There was no announcement here concerning allied aerial activity over the continent last night...

RED ADVANCE CUTS GERMAN ESCAPE ROUTE

Two Soviet Armies Converge To Tighten Trap on 250,000 Nazis.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 25 — Russian forces have severed the principal German escape railway leading west from the Leningrad sector and today a Nazi army estimated to number at least 250,000 was facing possible entrapment by two Soviet armies south of Russia's second city.

The Germans were being herded west and southwest toward the Estonian border at Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's Leningrad front forces and Gen. A. K. A. Meretskov's Volkhov army base at Novgorod, 100 miles to the south. Junction of these two armies, effected last week, forms a semi-circle around the enemy which Moscow reports is constantly being squeezed tighter.

Supply System Hit

Most telling blow against the Nazi communication and supply system below Leningrad was struck yesterday by Govorov's forces, which cut the Krasnogvardeisk-Narva trunk line near the village of Smolkovo, 40 miles southwest of Leningrad. A Soviet communique said the Russians killed 1,500 Germans on the way. Soviet vanguards were reported but two miles from Krasnogvardeisk.

Further to the east other units of Govorov's army battled their way through 40 towns and villages, including historic Pushkin (Tsarkoye Selo) and Pavlovsk (Slutsk) important rail junctions 14 and 18 miles south of Leningrad. Another 800 Nazis were slain in this drive, said the Russian communique.

Meretskov sent columns west from Novgorod to within 20 and 30 miles, respectively, of Batetskaya and Luga, secondary rail hubs on lines leading to the Estonian border and to Pskov at the lower end of Lake Peipus. Command of these lines appeared necessary to the Germans if they hope to escape disaster.

Rail Junction Taken

Meretskov also captured Borok, 14 miles north of Shimsk, another rail junction leading to the rear of German troops based at Staraya Russa just below Lake Ilmen. More than 3,000 Nazis were reported killed in these operations.

Moscow made no mention of fighting in the White Russian or Crimean sectors but reported savage German counter-attacks was repulsed in the lower Ukraine where Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's first Ukrainian army was pushing toward the Rumanian frontier.

PROBE MEAT CLAIM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 — A senate investigation was begun today into charges by Senator Thomas (R-Idaho) that "large quantities" of meats have spoiled or had been destroyed because government officials refused to suspend meat rationing temporarily.

IN PRE-INVASION RAID. In preparation for the allied landing near Rome, British commandos struck in the Nazi-held area to bring back prisoners. Here some of the soot-faced fighters ride back to headquarters in a jeep to deliver some German soldiers for questioning.

JAPS SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES

Pays Price of 350 Planes in 30 Days Fighting Over Rabaul.

By The Associated Press

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, Jan. 25—Fighting desperately to halt allied air blows at her southwest Pacific air and sea bases, Japan is paying a steep price—more than 350 planes in 30 days over Rabaul alone—yet has failed to stop the devastating daily parade of bombers.

The enemy's Rabaul, New Britain, losses from Dec. 23 to Jan. 24 totaled 348 definite, plus many others probably downed, a South Pacific headquarters spokesman said today. The allies lost only 78. (In December, Japan lost 436 to our 68 in the entire Pacific.)

In two raids alone, on Wewak, New Guinea, and Rabaul, New Britain, the past week-end, the enemy lost 51 planes for certain and probably 11 others, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique said today.

Forty to 70 interceptors tried vainly to block the allied blow at Rabaul's Lakunai airdrome Saturday. The 27 Mitchells scored 54 hits. Enemy interceptors losing 18 planes but downing only five allied fighters. Ack-ack downed one Mitchell. Two Liberators were lost in an attack Saturday night.

The allied bag of 51 to 65 Nipponese planes, including 33 definite plus 12 probables at Wewak, New Guinea, where escorted allied bombers, concentrated 163 tons of bombs on Wewak's anti-aircraft positions.

Five allied planes were lost.

Australian ground forces 20 miles below Bogadjim, south of Madang, New Guinea, continued to advance.

U. S. Steps Up Blows Against Marshall Islands

PEARL HARBOR, Jan. 25—The United States Army and Navy plane raids on Japan's invasion-menaced Marshall islands, which so far this month have averaged better than two a day, now are being stepped up.

Nine new raids in two days against six atolls were announced yesterday by the Navy, raising to 42 the total number of air missions against the mid-Pacific Marshalls in the first 23 days of January. Thirty seven enemy planes have been destroyed or probably destroyed, and at least 18 others damaged. Announced American plane losses were 16.

Nine Japanese ships have been sunk or probably sunk and more than 15 ships, including a destroyer, were damaged.

The most telling effects of the raids—damage to airfield facilities and wharves by bombing—have not been made known but on some of the attacked bases up to 80 per cent of the target areas have been reported destroyed.

THREE PILOTS KILLED

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 25—Two civilian pilots and an army air forces lieutenant perished in the crash of a twin-engined army plane during an attempted landing at the municipal air field here yesterday. The victims were identified by officials of the Romulus, Mich., base of the air transport comand's ferrying division as civilian pilots Russell H. Guy, 23, of Dayton, O., and Joseph B. Topping, 29, of Pittsburgh, and Lt. William Henry Byers, 35, of Romulus, Mich.

LITTLE GERMAN OPPOSITION TO ADVANCEMENT

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 25 — Berlin radio declared today Velletri, on the Appian Way 22 miles southeast of Rome, had been destroyed, and indicated the allies had captured the town.

"American troops are finding debris and ashes there after their own bombs transformed the little town into a heap of ruins," the broadcast said.

Velletri is about 18 miles northeast of Nettuno.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Jan. 25—Allied troops have driven 12 miles inland from their Nettuno-Anzio beachhead and patrols are pushing deeper, headquarters announced today, with no "formidable" German opposition yet encountered.

The famous Appian Way to Rome and the main coastal rail line are about 12 miles inland from the landing area, but it was not specifically stated the invasion forces had reached them. It is obvious, however, they are at least under allied domination.

(The Geneva newspaper La Suisse quoted the Fascist press today as announcing allied forces now had occupied the entire 30-mile coastal stretch from Nettuno to the mouth of the Tiber, and were threatening Ostia, the port of Rome, three miles up the river. OWI reported this dispatch).

German planes made their strongest attacks yesterday seeking to halt sea-borne reinforcements, and battled over the invasion bridgehead, but lost nine planes.

The allied spearheads met "hastily organized battle groups" of Germans apparently moved northward from the Fifth army front around Cassino.

The Nazis still were launching fierce counterattacks on that main front, but there blows have decreased somewhat in number, and intensity indicating enemy forces were being pulled back to meet the invasion flanking threat.

The beachhead has been lengthened headquarters declared, without closing the area it covers. Reinforcements and supplies continued to pour in, and the communique said the town of Anzio, bordering Nettuno to the west, had been taken.

Near Electric Rail Line

(The United Nations radio at Algiers said the troops striking inland were within almost a mile of the double-track Rome-Naples electric rail line).

Fierce fighting raged along the Rapido river near Cassino.

U. S. patrols reconnoitered the area to probe enemy defenses, but no counter-offensive was launched by the Americans to force their way from the eastern bank. The Germans hurled the Americans back across the river Sunday.

Fresh troops in the northernmost area beat back repeated enemy counter-attacks, and a hot battle swirled for the Mt. Croce area.

British troops kept their bridgehead across the Garigliano river on the left flank of the Fifth army line despite new Nazi counterblows, and made some gains in the Damiano bridge area. The Germans were reported counter-attacking recklessly in the Minturno and Castel-Porte areas.

A British veteran of the last war who went through the fighting in and around Minturno said:

"The German dead there exceeded the dead I saw at any time during the fiercest fighting on the Somme."

The German battle groups rushing against the invasion forces represent all branches and are in the nature of miniature defense divisions with their own commanders. Presumably such groups have been drawn from several of the divisions facing the Fifth army.

There also were indications the Germans may bring some of...

MARION SOLDIER IS WOUNDED IN ACTION

Cpl. John Griffith in Hospital in Italy.

The name of Cpl. John M. Griffith of Marion was in a list of names of Ohioans wounded in action in the Mediterranean and southwest Pacific areas announced by the War department at Washington through The Associated Press today.

Griffith, brother of Earl Griffith of 275 Edwards street, was wounded in action Dec. 16 in Italy and is there in a hospital from which he will be released soon, according to word received by his brother recently. The family was notified of his injury Dec. 30 by the War department. He suffered a wound in his right shoulder while fighting with the Fifth Army in the Italian campaign. He entered service May 28, 1942, he was sent overseas in March last year and was stationed in North Africa. Before entering service he was a railroad employe here.

Marion Man And Wife Enlist for Service in Navy

"Join the Navy" calls lured both halves of a Marion couple recently when Mr. and Mrs. Paul I. Monnette of 224 South High street were sworn into the Navy.

Mr. Monnette was sworn in on Jan. 6, and his wife joined the colors, enlisting in the WAVES, on Jan. 17. They are the first Marion couple to join the Navy together, according to Chief John J. Dugan of the Marion Naval recruiting office.

Mr. Monnette is a graduate of Harding High school, and was employed at the Marion Machine Tool Co. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin R. Monnette of near Marion.

Mrs. Monnette was graduated from Byhalia High school, and is also a graduate nurse, having taken training at the Sawyer Sanatorium. At the time of her enlistment she was employed by the B. F. Marion Serviceman Dies in Flaming Sea As Buddy from Carey Attempts Rescue

Marion county yesterday learned of another death of one of its servicemen, Seaman First Class Richard W. Shields, when the Huber Manufacturing Co. devoted a part of its Fourth War Loan rally to his memory.

He went down off the Atlantic coast last October after a collision of American tankers, losing a fight to survive in a sea covered with blazing oil. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnet M. Shields of 202½ North Main street, received a letter Jan. 5 from Navy Secretary Knox saying their son definitely was lost, but they had been kept so busy looking after his official papers since that time that they had not publicly announced receiving the report.

When the Huber Mfg. Co. unfurled a service flag yesterday bearing a gold star in memory of Seaman Shields, his death was announced, and today his mother made public the word she had received about her son.

Rescue Attempt Fails

She also disclosed that a Carey youth, Calvin E. Norris who enlisted from Sycamore and was a buddy of Seaman Shields on the tanker, had made a valiant attempt to rescue him after both leaped into the flaming sea when the tankers crashed and caught fire.

RICHARD W. SHIELDS

Let's ALL back the attack in the Fourth War Loan.

Seaman Norris, 18, when he arrived home on a furlough about three weeks after the tanker crash, came to Marion and told Mrs. Fields he saw her son "go down" after struggling in vain to keep afloat. Norris told how young Shields was in the mess hall at the time the order came to abandon ship, and how he had to leap before he had time to slip on a life belt. Norris said Shields appeared dazed, didn't speak but managed to stay afloat for some time. Norris said he helped him and other survivors nearby for a time, but was unable to keep Shields above water.

Feared The Worst

The mother told today how she had pieced together the chain of information over a period of weeks that convinced her her son was dead, long before the official announcement came rom Secretary Knox. She knew her son was on a tanker on the Atlantic coast, and feared the worst when she heard a radio account of the collision. When a subsequent announcement listed a Port Clinton, O., seaman as the only Ohio survivor of one of the ships, she knew that her son and Seaman Norris of Carey were the only other Ohioans on the boat, and assumed both were lost. When Norris came to her about three weeks later to tell of her son drowning, the news wasn't much of a surprise to Mrs. Shields—it was just confirmation of what she already had decided had happened.

Shields was in a gun crew aboard the tanker. He had enlist...

FINDS BRICKER, DEWEY SENTIMENT IN IOWA

Governor's Aid Says Willkie Has Little Support.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 24—Robert L. Barton, Gov. Bricker's secretary, returned from an Iowa trip yesterday and reported sentiment in the mid-western state was "divided" between Bricker and Thomas E. Dewey for the Republican presidential nomination.

There is "little sentiment" for Wendell Willkie, Barton added.

The secretary attended a two-day conference of young Republican clubs at Des Moines and said he was told that Iowans were impressed with Bricker and would like to see more of him.

Asked whether Bricker might enter the California primary for delegates following reports Willkie would remain out of the contest, Barton said he could not say definitely what the governor might do.

Campaign for Peace Now Under Way Since July

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—An active campaign has been under way for the past six months to interest members of congress in an immediate negotiated peace, "but we haven't had much success thus far," Miss Bessie Simon, national secretary of peace now, said today.

She said the movement was started about "July 10 or 11" and that "thus far it has been mainly a mail campaign all over the country, and advertisements, and trying to get people interested."

Copies of the advertisements and pamphlets to support a contention that a compromise was preferable to heavy losses in a fight for unconditional surrender were sent to senators and representatives, Miss Simon said.

Miss Simon said membership in the organization was not large—"about a couple of thousand members."

She said Dr. George Hartmann, teacher at Harvard university, was chairman of the group.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

BACKING THE PRESIDENT

Editor of The Star — My reply to a letter from a reader in a recent issue of The Star which took a rap at our President as the "quack doctor" and about trading horses in the center of the stream, and some other bunk.

I believe if some of our people ever wake up and use common horse brains they will frankly admit our President has done a wonderful job and I wish to say I have voted both sides. So far he has done great things and of course has made a few mistakes, but we all must remember that if the good Lord was president there are many who would seek to harm him, no matter what he did to help us. We must not forget when the President accepted office he said he would make mistakes, but he has not and will not fail to let us earn a living and stay out of bread lines, or be driven out of Washington at gun's point, as has been done.

So if you have something to offer better than your past leaders of your party perhaps he will get a fair share of the votes, but not enough.

So my advice is to drive your horse out in the center of the stream (deepest part) and jump off. Right now we must back our President and buy bonds. Sell those horses and put the money in fighting hands. Later after the war we will meet you at the polls.

Two Stamps To Be Good for Tokens

Contradictory statements have been issued relative to the exchange of tokens for the overlapping brown and green stamps after Feb. 27 when the new token plan goes into operation, OPA district officials at Columbus pointed out today.

To correct this situation, amendment has been made to provide that when the new token plan becomes effective, green stamps K, L and M in War Ration Book Four and Brown Stamps Y and Z in War Ration Book 3, previously validated and which remain valid until March 20, may be used for rationed items and tokens will be given in exchange for both color of stamps. However, the brown and green stamps will continue to have the same point value as they now carry—8, 5, 2 and 1 point value. The blue and red stamps have a uniform value of ten points each.

Consumers are advised to spend their green and brown stamps first.

Small Talk Fills Time As Navy Men Wait for Action

By RELMAN MORIN

Associated Press Correspondent

Representing the Combined American Press.

ABOARD AN AMERICAN WARSHIP, Jan. 21—(Delayed)—Our destroyer [illegible] northward through the Tyrrhenian sea today toward a [illegible] just south of Rome where American troops were soon to go ashore and where ships and men might reasonably expect to meet [illegible] torpedoes in the [illegible] and shells in the air, were more in point places.

At dinner that night someone precipitated an argument about the comparative likelihood of any torpedoes or mines in the impending operation.

It was not settled but Lt. Virgil Mythaler of Canton, O., said it was the duty of the gunners to shoot anybody that came around with a torpedo.

"And of the guys on the bridge to wiggle the ship around so as we go between all the mines," said Lt. Paul Scott, of Bay Springs, Miss., the chief engineer.

In a shocked voice, Executive Officer Lt. Commander Philip Cutler of Marion, Mass., said, "did you hear Scotty practically admit there is something else to a ship besides the engines?"

Scott lofully reported that's all a ship was—just engines, with a gun stuck here and there.

The ship's loudspeakers suddenly cut into the argument, ordered all personnel to take showers and put on clean underwear.

One officer said that was just an old Navy custom before an operation.

Somebody else asserted we borrowed it from the Japs—that's the way a Jap dresser when he goes to his own funeral.

The loudspeaker cut in again, and almost with its first words the laughter had gone.

The harsh-mechanical voice was calling:

"Battle-stations!"

Arrest Follows Affray in West Center St. Cafe.

Lowell J. Estep, 18, of 227 North Main street, was bound over to the grand jury by Municipal Judge Dexter Hazen at a hearing yesterday on two charges of cutting with intent to wound, following what police described as an altercation Saturday night at the Shamrock cafe on West Center street.

A President is Born

HE is so small and helpless. So dependent on you for his life and well-being. And yet you are able to look at him and say—

"Someday he may be President."

Put it down as foolish sentiment. Put it down as parental pride. But where else in the world could you envision for your child the possibility of his attaining, one day, the highest office in the land?

Maybe your child won't make it. But one child, very much like him, will. One child out of the three million babies born this year—or the next—or the year after.

Whether or not he attains this high position is not so important. What matters is that here, in America, he is born with that opportunity. He is born in the stubborn tradition of free men—men who felt that in government, the wisdom of the many is preferable to the ambition of the few. He is born in a tradition of self-reliance—where he may succeed or fail, win or lose, rise or fall, according to his own efforts.

Because of that, you will train him to think for himself, to fight his own battles, to make his own way.

You will teach him that responsibility is inseparable from freedom. And that if he joins with other men in an enterprise he should demand the same responsibility and freedom for his business that marks his birthright as an individual.

Someday he may hear, as you have heard, voices that say, "Surrender your opportunity for the certainty that you shall always have bread"—as if man lived by bread alone. As if the country were better served by limiting all to mediocrity—instead of assuring to all, under law, an equal chance to rise by their own efforts, conscious of their obligations to others.

What that son of yours learns at your knee will decide whether or not he will ever have to bend his knee before dictation and tyranny.

And because of what you teach him, he too may one day look with that same foolish pride on his own son to say, "Someday he may be President—" savings chairman of the War Finance committee, who spoke briefly.

BOND SALE

Mr. Hoover then explained the plan to be followed in conducting the drive in the plant, starting yesterday afternoon with a committee of about 40 persons in charge of contacting all workers. R. E. O'Connell, company treasurer, spoke, concluding the rally.

Attractive Sales Corps

At the Universal Cooler rally yesterday at 4:30 p. m., workers gathered around a platform in the factory that was flanked by colorful booths and girl bond saleswomen in bright uniforms. One of the highlights was announcement of plans for a Victory Dance free to all Universal Cooler employes who buy extra bonds in the Fourth War Loan drive. It is scheduled for Feb. 11.

F. S. McNeal, president of the company, opened the rally program with brief remarks after which he introduced Harold Grigsby, payroll chairman of the county War Finance committee, who declared Universal Cooler had set the pace among Marion county concerns in the purchase of war bonds, making a good showing in all past drives. "You've met your quotas because you have looked forward to these drives, prepared for them and organized for them," he declared.

Jack Danner Honored

He then called on Jack Danner, the company's war loan chairman, and presented him the treasury department citation for promoting war bond sales. The citation carried the signature of Treasury Secretary Morgenthau and of Phil Trounstine, Ohio War Finance committee chairman, and was presented in recognition of outstanding service in past drives, Mr. Grigsby explained.

Mr. Danner, in accepting, said the citation should have been made out "to the employes of Universal Cooler" because their support of war bond drives had merited the award.

Robert E. White, Fourth War Loan chairman, and Earl Andrews, treasury representative named by the county War Finance committee to work with the Universal Cooler committee, were introduced, after which Mr. Danner explained detailed plans for the drive in the plant. He said three bond booths, manned by committee members and assisted by uniformed girl members of the committee, would move from one department to another to take bond purchase applications.

Herbert Speaks

Mr. Grigsby then introduced Thomas J. Herbert, Ohio attorney general and candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, who spoke briefly on the importance of putting the Fourth War Loan over the top. "The men at the front are not just investing in this war—they're sacrificing everything they have, if necessary; we at home are just asked to invest in the war—and it's the world's best investment aside from its aid to the war effort," he declared. He said the bond drive is encountering two handicaps—complacency and ignorance—in some places, the complacency stemming from too optimistic an outlook on the progress of the war and the ignorance expressing itself in such forms as doubt as to whether the war bonds are sound. He praised Universal for its record of purchases in the past, and urged the workers to go far enough over the top to help make up for some other places that might not reach their quotas.

Aim To Root Axis from South America

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 — Further joint action by the American republics to uproot and destroy any pro-axis movements in South America was foreshadowed today by refusal of the United States and seven other western hemisphere nations to recognize the revolutionary rules of Bolivia.

The immediate goal in this diplomatic maneuvering is believed to be a break between Nazi Germany and Argentina, the only American nation maintaining relations with Germany. Talk of Axis intrigue has been linked with the Bolivian revolution so that every development involving Bolivia now is studied closely for its effect on Argentina.

Argentina To Act

What Argentine reaction would not be long in forthcoming became apparent when Foreign Minister Alberto Gilbert announced at Buenos Aires he would have "important news" momentarily.

His statement was made after conferring with U. S. Ambassador Norman Armour, British Ambassador Sir David Victor Kelly and the German charge d'affaires, Erich Otto Meynen.

The United States non-recognition policy was announced by the state department late yesterday. The statement linked the Bolivian regime with "subversive groups hostile to the allied cause."

No reference was made to economic sanctions or other measures and the intention of the United States and cooperating governments apparently was to await reaction to the purely diplomatic step before doing anything else.

A state department official disclosed that Ambassador Pierre De L. Boal, in La Paz since March 1942, was being ordered home. The United States was the fourth nation announcing its non-recognition policy following Uruguay, Cuba and Venezuela.

Sensational Action Expected in Buenos Aires

By The Associated Press

MONTEVIDEO, URUGUAY, Jan. 25—Diplomats here said a sensational announcement is expected to be made today in Buenos Aires—with a strong possibility it would be a formal declaration by Argentina breaking relations with the axis countries.

Such a decision ostensibly would be based upon discovery of a pro-axis espionage ring which led to arrest of an Argentine consul by British authorities at Trinidad, authoritative sources said. They expressed belief Secretary Hull had refrained yesterday from mentioning Argentina in connection with the Bolivian coup d'etat, because Argentina had advised the U. S. ambassador of her contemplated step.

Argentina's Foreign Minister Alberto Gilbert told correspondents at Buenos Aires yesterday he would have "important news" today.

Greece --- Anti-Nazi Strength Is Weakened by Civil War

By JOHN F. CHESTER

CAIRO—A fight is on over the [illegible] and mountainous valleys of Greece if the Allies can heal a Nazi-inspired strife between the bands of Greek guerrillas from the Balkans may take first place among the smaller campaigns in the Mediterranean [illegible] to the United Nations' war effort.

The allied headache, however, is whether the loose-knit bands known as the Elas and the Eoka can be diverted from a sort of civil war to their former job of harassing the Germans.

Colonel Stephanis Serafis, thin, sunken-cheeked former pon vivant and man-about-town is identified with the Elas, which are about three times stronger in number than the Edes. The latter organization is led by stocky, thickset Colonel Napoleon Zervas.

Total guerrilla strength in Greece has been variously estimated at from 15,000 to 50,000 and is known to be elastic and shifting.

The EAM (National Liberation Front) with its Elas army is an extreme left movement and its generally supposed Communist elements are active in the upper brackets. It has a postwar program including the adoption of a universal dialect and nationalization of public utilities. Yet because only the Edes have offered full cooperation, most allied supplies have been going to that group despite its numerical inferiority.

Both the British, who are mainly interested, and members of the Greek government-in-exile [illegible] who are entirely a third party to the matter, believe there [illegible] of healing the split. If it could change the entire [illegible] picture, facilitate any future invasion and draw off German troops needed elsewhere.

British authorities credit [illegible] guerrillas with two major [illegible] to the battlefront. At the time of El Alamein, when the fate of Egypt and the Suez were in [illegible] guerrillas blew up the Gorgopotamus viaduct, thus smashing [illegible] main rail line along which [illegible] Nazis were pouring supplies to North Africa.

Again, as the Allies invaded Sicily, guerrillas fomented [illegible] throughout Greece to create diversions and draw Nazi attention from the real target. It is [illegible] cret the allies would like to see concentrated guerrilla help to insure safe beachheads when and if an invasion attempt is made through Greece.

Do without everything you don't need for happiness and health. Don't waste one precious penny. And put everything you can raise into War Bonds.

No sacrifice you can make can approach the sacrifices of our marines on the blood-soaked sands of islands in the Pacific, or our soldiers fighting their way mile by mile towards Berlin. No sacrifice you can make can match the selfless heroism of our gallant flyers over Germany or our sailors grappling with the stealthy Japanese fleet!

Our boys are giving up their homes and their families, their sweethearts and their jobs, even their lives.

Let's back them up by buying an extra $100 War Bond in the Fourth War Loan Drive. You'll help to keep Old Glory flying everywhere it belongs!

Satisfying the Principle

AGREEMENT by the senate elections committee on a compromise proposal for polling the votes of men in this year's presidential election satisfies the principle which was at issue in this problem. Every qualified voter who wants to cast a ballot will have a reasonably easy way to do it. The federal government will distribute a uniform federal ballot, with the handling of marked ballots left in the hands of the states. Service voters wishing to vote for state and local officials will be furnished application cards for state ballots.

There may be some back action over the marked ballots in states where the outcome is close, just as there was in the Civil war, the only other time that service voters were a potent election factor, but that will be the responsibility of the states themselves. There is even the possibility of a delayed count pending arrival of service ballots, but it cannot be eliminated. The elections committee proposal will not suit the eager minority which thought it had a chance to shelve the Constitution and put the federal government in control of a state function, but it makes as much sense to everybody else as can be expected.

In all probability, the service vote isn't going to be half so heavy or nearly so lopsided as each major party claims it is, but if only one man and one woman used the machinery which is going to be set up, the preservation of their rights would be worth the effort.

Lady With a Story

PROBABLY it's too late to do anything about it, unless the revenue bill is thrown out and the whole tax question reopened, but it looks as though congress should call on Miss Vivien Kellems for her point of view. Miss Kellems is the lady manufacturer who recently said that if the treasury wanted to make something out of the fact she believed in post-war reserves even at the expense of not paying taxes, she was ready to play rough. Thereafter, she proceeded to make some pointed remarks about the difference between taxes for winning the war and taxes for bigger and better boondoggling. She also said she would like to tell about some of the boondoggling.

Miss Kellems may not be a financial expert, but she knows enough about running a business to keep one running, and she seems to know just enough about the state of public opinion on taxation to be a bell ringer. The trouble with hearings on important legislation like revenue bills is the way they get loaded up with dignitaries who have forgotten how to talk the people's language. For years, it has looked like a good idea to have just some ordinary citizens named Jim Jones go down and talk about taxes; Miss Kellems doesn't fill that bill, but she sounds like a lady who could give a taxation committee a run for its money.

As for publicity, which is not to be sneezed at in a matter of this nature, nothing could be guaranteed, but one will get you two in this corner that Miss Kellems—off her own record—would make more excitement than Washington has had in a committee hearing since the midget sat on J. P. Morgan's knee.

Cause and Effect

ORGANIZED labor's own admissions that work stoppages constitute a problem and that the problem needs to be tackled at one of its chief sources, confusion in government, is a healthy sign.

An even better sign is the fact that so many friendly students of the labor movement lately have been pointing objectively to administrative confusion in government as one of the causes of trouble that must be removed before labor can be held responsible for work stoppages.

It has been easy to indict organized labor and its leaders for things whose origin is vastly more complex than such personalities as John L. Lewis, or the traditional aims and attitudes of the unions affected. Certainly the threatened railroad strike, which was precipitated by the government, itself, at the climax of a long course of negotiation which ended in a blind alley because of government decisions and, worse, differences of opinion, could not be ascribed fairly to railroad labor. As everybody knows, wage negotiations have ceased to be between workers and employers and have become a bargaining process between workers and the government, with employers standing by to see how things turn out—and hoping for the best. Belatedly, the government is being forced to take some of the responsibility for the authority it has been exercising over collective bargaining.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 — A leading child welfare authority diagnosed the juvenile delinquency problem in a labor magazine something like this:

Confident for that they have been pushed around by the rest, that they are "in trouble," and that "trouble" is due to a spiritual hunger.

Now I hesitate to take issue, as an amateur, with so eminent and experienced a professional leader, but I would like to submit to her, and to those many readers interested approvingly in my recent remarks on the subject—that one main thing wrong with the problem is the attitude she reveals in her diagnosis.

From her own analysis can be gleaned the proof which should convict her of her mistake. She says girls' cases in the courts have swollen 28 per cent, boys, 12 per cent. Chief girl offenses were "ungovernable behavior," "running away," and "sex offense."

How in the world does she expect to cure these problems—of matter what else she does—if she confides the miscreants with the thought that they are just "in trouble" due to "spiritual hunger" of their own dear little adolescent selves?

Instead of going at it that way, why not try to cure ungovernable behavior, running away, and sex offenses by stronger discipline including some on parents responsible for such delinquency?

About "Julia"

"A little 14-year-old girl found living with her girl friend, aged 15, wife of a soldier in a nearby camp. Both girls were having many soldiers visit them each night. The police picked them up one night in a tavern near the camp. Life in her village at home was 'so dull' as compared with life around an army camp."

Dull, huh? Well, that is what Julia told the social workers anyway, but obviously there must be more behind Julia than that in a family background and the lack of discipline or respect for it in either the home, school, or church. Julia got away with this explanation to my friend, the authority, who only asks in her article:

"Must the fun children have always be dangerous?"

Apparently so. Sixty-one per cent of all the recent burglaries, robberies, and hold-ups in Seattle, she then says, were committed by youths from nine to 16, who, no doubt, find life at home also dull.

My complaint is that to look at the problem that way revives juvenile delinquency, creates the excuse for all the little Julias, who, after all, have minds of their own and have learned to get around doting parents and social workers.

The Cause?

Spiritual hunger? Is that what really caused Julia to embark to the camp and the boys to start robbery as a career? They may have thought it, but they are adolescents, and if the free expression of their own little minds is going to be any guide in national handling of the problem, I wouldn't say the nation was being furnished the best possible leadership.

"Julia" does not sound genuine to me. But say there is a "spiritual hunger" on the part of the young, a genuine hunger which causes juvenile delinquency, even admit Julia had it.

Is a lax, fondling attitude toward her crime going to make it any better, or is it going to encourage other little Julias to think they can get by with the same story, or at least will not suffer the effects of stern discipline?

I do not know what the answer for all spiritual hungers is, but I know where I would start looking—in a church, not around army camps. That is where most adults would start to look for it, and my point is that the time has come to let the adult outlook on the problem prevail over the child outlook.

Suggested "Cures"

My friend, the expert's recommendations for cures run along this line:

A nation at war must assume responsibility, make up for the absence of fathers and big brothers, and—these are exact quotes—"Compensate the children of mothers required to work, for the loss of their time and attention," "keep schools open," "maintain social services," open new social centers."

I do not believe any of those things will do much with the problem, but I think a change of attitude on the part of child welfare leaders might.

Today and Tomorrow

Allied Recognition of Governing Groups in Occupied Countries Urged.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

WITH the western Allies at the gates of Rome, with the Russian armies already beyond the prewar Polish boundary, and with the invasion of France being prepared, we find ourselves in urgent need of an Italian, a Polish and a French government which we can deal with and can count upon.

Whether we like to call them "governments" or "provisional governments" or "national authorities" is a matter of the form rather than of the substance. What we need is a governing power which can rally the resistance behind the German lines, can maintain order behind our armies, can participate in the enforcement of the armistice that is to be imposed on Germany, and can manage the transition from war to peace.

Moreover, until these governments are constituted and recognized, we are merely beating our breasts when we ask for a United Nations organization to deal collectively with the unsettled problems of Europe. For without governments to speak for them and to commit them, all the nations cannot act together because so many of them cannot act at all.

No Recognition for France

Now at the present time the Americans and the British have not recognized a French government. Yet the French national committee is actually governing the second largest colonial empire in the world and, without any reservation whatever, commands the allegiance of those Frenchmen who will risk their lives to help us when we land in France.

On the other hand, we have recognized an Italian government—that of King Victor Emmanuel and Marshal Badoglio—which under our protectorate governs feebly one or two backward provinces and has failed to rally the organized Italian resistance against Fascism and against Germany. And in eastern Europe we have under our diplomatic protection a Polish government which, as it is now constituted, the Russians will not recognize.

It is evident that our stock formula about letting each people choose freely its own government when the war is over is quite insufficient. It is just a formula for not having to think.

Clearly here is a general problem arising in different forms the three great powers face it not only in regard to France, Poland and Italy but also in regard to Yugoslavia and Greece and later they will face it in regard to Rumania, Hungary, Bulgaria and perhaps Finland.

The Yardstick

What there should be the standards of judgment by which we decide the recognition of governments? In general the answer must surely be: By whether they can be expected to do the most necessary things which have to be done. In other words, by whether they give good evidence for believing that they can deliver the goods.

What goods? The capacity to organize the utmost resistance to the enemy, the capacity to unite their people so that there shall not be civil war, the capacity to liquidate quickly and in orderly and thorough fashion the Quisling elements in their territory, the capacity to organize the machinery for consulting their people and obtaining their consent, the capacity to make commitments now which their nations will honor about those initial settlements with Germany which must be decided before the war ends.

By these standards the present Italian government is quite unsatisfactory, and therefore, not later than our entry into Rome the Italian government will have to be reconstituted.

By these standards, the French Committee is entitled, whatever the juridical formula, to recognition.

The Polish government is unhappily not at present in this position, and only by reaching an agreement with Russia can Poland be re-established. The inevitable fact is that Poland can be liberated from the German occupation only by the Red army, and only by the subsequent withdrawal of the Red army can Polish independence be restored.

Poland's Position

There is no way out of the impasse of Russian-Polish relations except by recognizing frankly that an independent Poland can be restored only if it is allied with Russia.

The proof is in this unalterable circumstance: Poland can live without the territory east of the Curzon Line: Poland cannot live without access to the sea. There is only one way that Poland can obtain access to the sea. That is by annexing what the Germans consider German territory.

If Poland annexes such territory then Poland must be able to defend it. Poland alone cannot defend its western borders against Germany. Only Russia can defend them. Therefore Poland must come to terms with Russia.

This is the way things are and there is no use pretending that we can make them different by talking big and making threats at the Russians. They have power and the primary responsibility in that part of the world as we have in regard to whether we will deal with the present Bolivian government.

It is, therefore, the vital interest of Poland, and of the whole cause, that a way be found by which the Polish government can become capable of settling with Russia.

One more point should be noted: It is a good thing, not a bad one, that these questions should confront us now rather than after hostilities cease. They are the basic questions of a settlement, and to leave them open until the war ends would be to make them insoluble.

Vexatious as they are today, they would be infinitely worse if we took the risk of letting them be settled by civil war, insurrections, and coups d'etat as we did, to our infinite cost, in the last war.

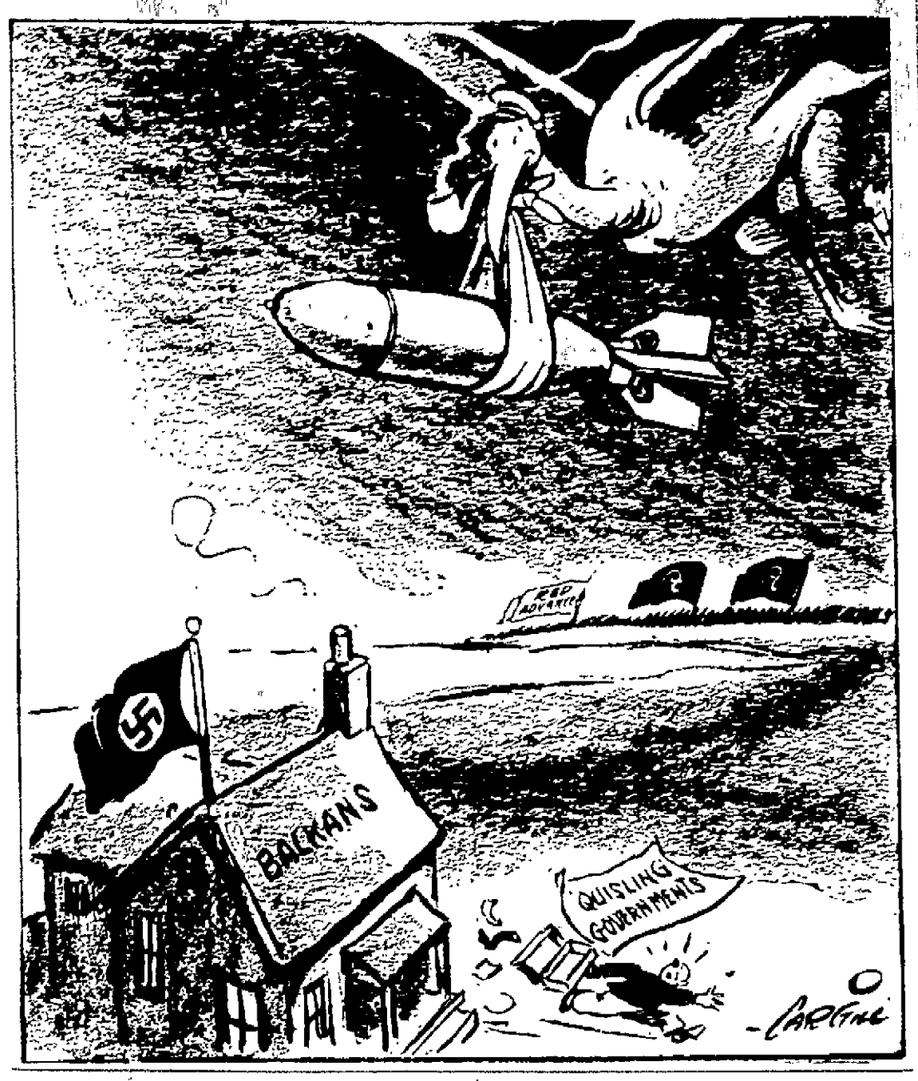
"EXPECTING"



From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, Jan. 25, 1934.

George Louis Kraatz, 49, president and general manager of the Marion Glass Mfg. Co. and senior partner in the K. & R. Coal Co., died at the Glenmont Rest Home in Columbus where he had been receiving treatment.

Former Governor Cox charged at Columbus that the state workmen's compensation fund which he had helped set up was being looted of funds and was headed for insolvency unless steps were taken to protect it.

Dr. O. C. Alspach of Marion, president of the Ohio Veterinary Medical association, was presiding at the state convention of the association in Columbus.

Mrs. H. D. Keeler of Summit street was in Akron visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Keeler.

Mrs. Sophia Zwilling, 83, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Moll of Chestnut street.

John Dillinger and three of his gang were back in custody again after having terrorized a sizeable area of the country since their escape from the Michigan City, Ind., penitentiary the preceding September. They were caught in Arizona without a shot being fired, largely because they had no fear of "hick cops." Dillinger served notice he would "pull every string" to prevent extradition to Indiana or Ohio.

S. L. Anderson, county farm agent, spoke on the corn-hog reduction program of the federal government at a meeting of Tully township residents in Martel.

William Edward Evans, 82, died at his home south of Richwood.

Mrs. Nettie Shackelford returned to Akron after a visit at the home of her son, H. E. Shackelford of Wildwood court.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Jan. 25, 1924.

Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, struck back at his accusers with what he declared to be the true story of the $100,000 paid him by Edward A. Doheny. He declared it to be a loan and said there was no connection between it and the lease of naval oil lands obtained by Mr. Doheny.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Shadaker of Sargent street.

A son was born to Rev. and Mrs. George M. Landis of South State street. Rev. Landis was pastor of Trinity Baptist church.

A daughter as born to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mahaffey at their home west of Marion.

Mrs. Ida Turner, 72, widow of John Turner, former Marion resident, died at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. F. E. Beatty of Kenatchee, Wash.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Pommert, 76, lifelong resident of Marion county, died at her home in Caledonia.

Marion Republicans organized a Coolidge-for-President club, believed to be the second formed in the state. Harry Smith, former county treasurer, was elected president and Miss Mary Leonard secretary. The meeting was in the office of J. D. Williamson.

Applications Fill the Air

CAB Samples Enthusiasm for Aviation

THE HOPES and ambitions of many an American citizen as well as the post-war plans of all the large airlines are outlined in 850 applications now pending with civil aeronautics board.

The law requires that public hearings be held on all applications. The legalistically perfect documents of the large companies await attention along with many a letter from individuals who say, "I have been thinking about starting an airline and wonder how to go about it."

If all the applications were granted, the United States would have the wildest system of air routes imagination could devise. Taxicab companies, undertakers, department stores, trucking companies, railroads, and bus lines would be flying patrons to and from work, on honeymoon trips to Niagara Falls, on week-end trips to Florida and, in many cases, to the graveyard.

Newspapers would be delivered by plane, baby chicks would be flown to market, and a helicopter service would be operating up and down the Grand Canyon.

Applications are coming in at the rate of 50 to 60 a month.

The rush started last April or May, according to Mrs. Catherine Williams, chief of the CAB docket section in Washington. The idea began to spread after Northeast Airlines filed an extensive application to blanket New England with helicopter service.

Some applicants come in person. Mrs. Sadie Garelick of Brooklyn came to CAB with her baby in her arms to explain that she and her husband planned to buy a Liberator bomber after the war to start a New York-Los Angeles air route.

Of the total applications filed, 390 are for new routes, 122 are for extensions of present service, including additional stops on authorized routes — and the rest for "miscellaneous." There are 69 applications for overseas service and six more for Alaskan service. Helicopter feeder routes are asked in 73 applications—and 57 others would provide feeder service with conventional planes. Others call for charter service with plane or helicopter and "pickup" service by pickup devices attached to planes.

Eight steamship companies, eight railroads, and 76 motor companies are among the applicants.

Post-War Japs

Pacific Coast Doesn't Want To Bunch Up in Cities; Prefers National Scatterment.

By DAMON RUNYON

I RECEIVED a number of letters from residents of the Pacific coast on my recent column that soon after the war the interned Japanese will be back in their old areas on the coast. I said many of these Japanese have powerful financial and political influence and this will probably come to life in their favor as soon as peace is declared.

Most of my correspondents say they are right, unless meantime something is done to offset the old influence. The sly program designed to soften west coasters toward Japs continues, but I am sure the majority of citizens of that region do not want to see ever again to congregate there in any considerable numbers. A poll of the west coast would indicate this sentiment. It is nothing new. It has existed for more than 40 years.

The Pacific coast does not want the Japs who were born in Japan, or their children who were born in this country and consequently are American citizens. It does not want the Japanese of any kind, at least not in the large numbers that were found prior to the war in all the large cities of the coast and in the districts, too, where the Japs followed their natural bent for farming.

THE FEELING of the citizens of the Pacific coast is not precisely hatred. Even in the days following the treachery of Pearl Harbor when the Japs were at large as usual and mingling freely with the white population of the coast, there was no violence toward them, no open manifestation of bitterness. They were treated with great consideration. There was no denial of the constitutional rights of the Japanese who are citizens, or of the rights as human beings of all Japanese in the United State.

But the people of the west coast believe that the presence among them again of any Japanese in large numbers would be a disturbing influence. Since this belief exists and cannot be erased and since there are many parts of the United States where there is little hostility to the Japanese as individuals now and where there will be none at all after the war, it is the considered opinion of many Californians and Washington and Oregon citizens that all Japs in this nation should be widely scattered over the land when peace comes.

These citizens believe that this scatterment should be voluntary on the part of the Japanese, but that if necessary it should be made compulsory. They think the Japanese born in this country should be the first to see that it is wisdom for them to seek other places of residence where they will not be suspected and unwelcome as long as they live. Disclosures of mass disloyalty among many of the parents and alien neighbors of the Japs who are American citizens will never be forgotten on the Pacific coast. Because of racial characteristics the Japanese can never assimilate with the whites.

THOUSANDS of Japanese children born in the United States have been educated in Japan and have probably been inoculated with the doctrine of the divine origin of the Japanese government and of Japan's ambition and intention to rule the world. It is said there are now in Japan's forces upward of 20,000 Japanese born in the United States, sent to the land of their forefathers, no doubt, on money made here.

There are Japanese born in Japan and Japanese born in the United States who are loyal to our flag. That is admitted. But it has been demonstrated that when the American-born lived in the large communities of their people that formerly existed on the Pacific coast they lived more as Japanese than as Americans.

Their presence in these communities does not minimize the disloyalty of those who would like to see this nation destroyed and who may in the internment camps still preach the detestable code of Japan.

Rag Rug Boom

By Truman Twill

One of the things about this war that may never be mentioned unless it is mentioned here is the coming boom in rag rugs.

First, there is the civilian who has been cutting down on his food intake to make his belt point reach. This is the fellow whose pants used to pinch him around the midriff but hang out snugly everywhere else, but look at them now.

The pants have developed escape hatches all the way around the waist band. He looks like a canvas-striking time on the circus lot from the rear perspective.

His vest has the appearance of being on a hook in the closet, and the coat like a Hooverette. There is room for a double-fisted grab at ever point and no need to tell the spectators that the cuffs on the pants are genuine pre-war.

But the real clothing casualties in this war are those rows and rows of suits hanging in clothes closets from Bangor to San Diego and Miami to Seattle while the owners are waiting for new outfits prescribed by the government.

What a great day it will be when they get home and tear open the moth-proof bags and see what a letdown is going to follow! The post-war tailoring boom alone should take up the slack while the automobile industry gets back on an easy payment plan.

The coats will be too small across the chest and too big across the hips. Vests will be cut up the back and buttons will fly off at the slightest provocation. All the pants will be hand-me-downs.

The shoes will be too short and too narrow, and the hats will look like something out of costume layouts for a Shakespearean revival. The shirts will be tight in the collar. The socks will be short in the feet.

Newspaper want ad columns will be filled with offers to swap one tasty brown double-breasted suit, size 38, for a blue serge. There will be the darnedest mix-up of wearing apparel ever. The practical jokers broke into the best of it.

Clothing stores will be run out of business. The Red Cross will send out appeals for people to donate slacks and pullover sweaters. And by the time the thing gets ironed out, every able-bodied male in the country who didn't have a busted ear drum, flat feet or a deferment because he had accepted an invitation to a costume party.

And for years afterward women will be cutting up old clothes to knit rag rugs. There won't be a spot of bare floor in any home where without its skidding hypo-allergic rug after war II.

Child Could Make It. No Cooking. Big Saving.

You may not know it, but, in your own kitchen, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It's old-fashioned—your mother probably used it—but for real results, it can't be beaten.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. No cooking needed. It's no trouble. Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in throat and bronchial irritations.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid cough syrup, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick relief, it's a wonder. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, eases the soreness, and makes breathing easy. If not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Traffic Accidents Kill 12 of 100,000 Ohioans

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan 25—Nearly 12 of every 100,000 Ohioans were killed in traffic accidents last year, a survey by the state highway department indicated today.

The report was compiled from statistics in Harry E. Neal's traffic and safety division and issued in connection with the 1943 all-Ohio traffic safety contest.

The highway department said only Ashland of the state's eligible communities failed to enroll in this year's safety contest, which represents about 75 per cent of the state's 7,500,000 residents.

March 15 is the contest deadline for reporting deaths and accidents. Winning towns will be awarded plaques in April.

"I was flying tail-end charlie for the top cover men," the air forces lieutenant related, "we were just about at the rendezvous point with the dive bombers when Bob Schultz, leading the top cover, suddenly called out 'Six Zeroes at three o'clock'."

Harmon reported Schultz and his wingman started battling with the six Zeroes while he turned to six he saw behind him which eventually forced him down in Japanese-occupied China.

Truck-Trailer And Auto in Accident

An automobile owned and driven by Charles Olmstead of near Marengo figured in an accident with two truck-trailer units owned by E. C. Jones of Columbus and operated by Melvin Smith of Carroll, O., and John Hubbard of Columbus when the truck-trailer units were stopped on Route 98 east of Marion about 10 last night.

A guard from the Marion Engineer depot had flagged the truck drivers to help him in his hunt for a soldier who was AWOL. Olmstead was blinded by lights of an approaching car and unable to see both trailer units. He passed the first on the berm to the right, and as he swung out to pass around the first unit, his car scraped a fender on the second unit. No injuries resulted to any of the drivers, but both front fenders of the Olmstead vehicle and the rear part of the body of the truck-trailer driven by Smith were damaged according to state highway ppatrolmen, who investigated the accident.

PEN WORKS OVERTIME TO TURN OUT TAGS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O., Jan 25 — Overtime work by Ohio penitentiary inmates to turn out 1944 motor vehicle license plates before a March 1 deadline will cost the state nearly $5,000, officials estimated today.

Metal for some 2,400,000 plates was not released by the federal government until last October, whereas work on new plates customarily started nearly a year in advance of their mandatory display date.

The 1944 blue tags with white numerals and letters go on sale March 1 and must be displayed on and after April 1. Only a rear plate will be issued for each vehicle, instead of the customary two. Last year windshield stickers replaced licenses because of the metal shortage.

To turn out the 1944 tags by late February, about 150 inmates have been working four hours daily, five days a week, in addition to their regular eight-hour day. Chief Clerk W. R. Bishop reported.

He said the men were paid 5 cents an hour for the four-hour period and allowed an additional 5 cents an hour credit on their savings accounts. The payments are in addition to regular pay ranging from one-half cent to five cents an hour.

Highway Director Hal G. Sours urged that all old tags be turned in for salvage.

their forces from northern Italy to the Rome area.

Headquarters disclosed that Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, commander of allied forces in Italy, had personally directed the landing operations at Nettuno, and then landed himself to supervise the early operations ashore.

(Morocco radio, quoting unverified German reports, said Littorio had been captured. Littorio is 12 miles due east of Nettuno.

(The German communique said allied attacks had been repulsed in southern Italy, and that three allied destroyers, and one merchantman had been sunk off Anzio, with three other vessels probably destroyed and 11 transports damaged.)

It now is known the 90th panzer Grenadiers were thrown into the Garigliano sector to support the German 94th infantry division, which took the brunt of original British assault across the river, then charged counterblows. The 94th is estimated to have lost at least 50 per cent of its combat strength in these battles.

Patrols were active on the Eighth army front and there was considerable mortar fire in the Adriatic coastal area.

Heavy bombers blasted rail yards at Vrattsa, near the Bulgarian capital of Sofia, and also struck at Skoplje in Yugoslavia yesterday.

Despite bad weather, fighters and fighter bombers maintained a cover over convoys and the invasion beaches in Italy as well as roads behind the German lines.

A number of Nazi bombers attacking allied shipping were shot down.

Fifteen enemy planes were destroyed during the day, and 11 allied craft were lost.

Allied Success To Be Reflected in Balkan Area

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The situation [illegible] in Italy are bound to be the reflection in the southeast Balkans which already are [illegible] merely from their efforts to escape Hitler's bloody clutches are from time to time political struggles which are in process of determining the nature of future governments.

In the long run probably the political aspect is the more important for our Fuehrer's fate already is determined, while the political complexion of southeastern Europe reaches far into coming years.

Four royal crowns—representing Greece, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, and Rumania—are undergoing the acid test. I quote Dr. Stoyan Gavrilovic, native of Yugoslavia, and former holder of numerous positions under his government until he broke with the Yugoslav government in exile three months ago:

"The present governments of the Balkan states are on their way out, and you can be certain no one will be sorry about it," he told me. "In every case they have been dictatorships, and the people are determined on establishing popular rule. These dictatorships have existed under the monarchies, and that means it's largely goodnight for the Balkans who are through with kings.

King Peter Is Mystery

"I never could understand why King Peter of Yugoslavia—himself a young man—should have identified himself with the cause of the dictatorship [illegible] It may be that it is too late now, but the only way he could possibly reinstate himself would be to make a clean and unequivocal sweep in favor of popular rule."

The Liberal Nationalist element in Yugoslavia (their opponents call them Reds) have formed a provisional government known as the National Council of Liberation.

Marshal Tito (Josip Broz) leader of the Partisan army which is receiving allied support, is chairman of the committee of national defense in this government. Tito is a communist, but his followers represent all brands of liberals. The provisional government has deprived King Peter of his rights and has forbidden him to return until the country is liberated.

Two Factions in Greece

Greece is torn between two political groups, each of which has an army in the field,—the Elas group, which is against return of the king and said by some to have Communist leanings, and the Edes faction which stands by the monarchy.

Bulgaria has been racked with political crisis since the mysterious death of King Boris last summer. Here, too, there is a swing toward popular rule, and many of the people lean towards Russia. Rumania, shaking like a custard with fear of Russian invasion, is in such a muddle politically no one can foresee the future.

An outstanding feature of this situation is the strong current of Russian influence running through the whole set-up. While it would be rash to try to predict the forms of government likely to be chosen by these Balkan states, it would be equally rash not to expect Russia to play a prominent role on the peninsula after the war.

Mildred Simpkins and Melva Leeper were installed as first and second ushers of the junior organization, and Mrs. Minnie Van Asbeck was installed as pianist for both groups. Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bush served as guiding companions for the installations.

The junior meeting preceded the senior session and lunch was served by the counselors. Mr. Abel complimented the juniors on attendance. Contests made up the entertainment. A valentine exchange will be held Feb. 4.

In the senior meeting one application for membership was balloted on and accepted. A report of the auditing committee was approved and accepted and a vote of thanks was extended the committee. Mr. Abel commended the circle on the largest gain in membership, both junior and senior, in the district. Mr. Shetterly thanked members for cooperation given him and Mr. Bush spoke briefly. Mrs. Lewis named her committee for the coming term, including Mrs. Margaret Russell, Mrs. Elsie Carey, Mrs. Helen Johnson, Mrs. Dorothy Garver, Mrs. Myrtle Buckingham, Mrs. Myriee Duncan, Mrs. VanAsbeck, Mrs. Kraus and Mrs. McDougal. Lunch was served by Mrs. Lewis.

Antimony is almost useless in its pure state, but combined with other metals is an important industrial aid.

CIO REPORT TO SHOW LIVING COST GAIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—Philip Murray, president of the CIO, [illegible] O'Connor, [illegible] another investigation [illegible] of living [illegible] have increased approximately 23 per cent since January, 1941.

Murray said the board's figures were based on a formal report [illegible] to be made by the bureau of labor statistics showing an increase of 23.4 per cent from January, 1941, to November, 1943.

"The cost of living survey of the CIO, to be submitted this afternoon to the cost of living committee," Murray declared, "will show most shocking revelations."

He asserted the government's wage policy must be adjusted to allow for the increase in the cost of living in accordance with the stabilization act of Oct. 2, 1942.

"This is for the benefit of industrial workers, white-collar workers, government employes and all of the people of the country because it assures continued, uninterrupted, and maximum production."

Instead of a 23.4 increase, he reiterated, the CIO survey will show "more than double that amount."

He said the government estimate did not reflect quality deterioration and upgrading, disappearance of cheaper goods, rent increases outside of 34 cities and "price violations and black markets."

First witness in the inquiry to determine whether the pay envelopes of the nation's 15,000,000 white collar workers contain enough money to meet war time living expenses, Murray said the CIO was organizing white-collar groups, including salaried workers and government employes.

He asserted wages have not caused inflation" but that "profiteering" has been demonstrated through recent reports of corporate taxes.

SPEAKER BLAMES WAR ON WORLD TRADE BREAKDOWN

Talks Given Here by O. W. U. Professor.

"The breakdown of world trade during 1930 was the main cause of this war," declared Dr. Gilbert Barnes, head of the department of economics at Ohio Wesleyan university, Sunday night in the second of a series of Sunday evening meetings on "Building a Christian Post-War World." His topic was "The Shape of a Peaceful Economy." The session was held in Calvary Evangelical church and Rev. R. W. Faulkner presided for a worship service. Arthur Smith presided during the forum period following the address.

"The only road to peace is the reconstruction of world trade," Dr. Barnes stated, and "Protection by tariff is the great American myth. The only way to a peaceful world is through free trade."

In answer to a question asked during the forum period, "Does not high protective tariff protect the wages of the American worker?" Dr. Barnes answered "That belief is a popular fallacy. In fact it works the other way."

Emphasizing the importance of having commerce based on free trade, Dr. Barnes advocated the United States eliminate by degrees protective tariffs and persuade other nations to do so.

Next Sunday night Prof. G. W. Sarvis of Ohio Wesleyan will speak on "The Far East and the Peace" in Epworth Methodist church.

He came home for a visit after his boot training, and was home against last July on a three-day leave. His last letter reached home only a couple of days before the fatal collision.

He was born in Caledonia June 14, 1925, son of Arnet M. Shields and Wave Marie Henry Shields. His father has been an employe of the Railway Express for the last 23 years, and spent many of those years in delivery work in the downtown district of Marion.

Richard started to work for the Huber Co. in 1942 in connection with a vocational course he was taking at Harding High, and continued the work, along with his studies, up to the time he entered naval service in March of 1943.

He is survived by his parents, a brother, Mervin W. Shields, machinist's mate second class, now aboard a destroyer, and a sister, Mary Jo Shields, a ninth grade pupil at Central Junior High school.

VAN NUYS

the senate committees on foreign relations, Indian affairs, and executive expenditures.

Frequently at odds with the administration, Van Nuys fought Roosevelt's court reorganization plan in 1937.

However, he was a staunch supporter of the President's foreign policies even before the war. His announcement he would support repeal of the arms embargo in 1939 assured that administration measure majority support within the foreign relations committee which had been almost evenly divided.

Van Nuys was senate sponsor for the controversial anti-lynching bill still pending before the judiciary committee. He made several attempts to force senate action on the measure, always being balked by a southern filibuster. He also advocated federal legislation to outlaw the poll tax as a qualification for voting.

His death reduced the Democratic-held seats in the senate to 57, with the Republicans holding 37 and the Progressive party one.

However, Indiana's Democratic governor, Henry F. Schricker, doubtlessly will appoint a Democrat to serve out the year remaining of Van Nuys' term.

Van Nuys, whose home was Indianapolis, unseated James E. Watson, veteran Republican, in the 1932 Democratic landslide and was reelected in 1938.

Employes in Senator Van Nuys' office said he had not complained of illness, but remained away from the senate yesterday with a slight cold. He attended last Friday's session.

The senator's only son, William, is a naval air corps lieutenant serving overseas.

Funeral arrangements will be made after Mrs. Van Nuys, now in Arizona, is contacted.

Oil Co. Starts Job Training Course Today

The Marion Division of the Standard Oil Co. yesterday started a course in job relations training which is now in progress for service station managers in nine counties. Classes of ten are being held in Marion at Hotel Harding in the morning and at Upper Sandusky in the afternoon. The training which will continue for five days, is being given by F. L. Barnhart, the assistant division manager, as instructor. It is part of the Training Within Industry program.

FERGUSON DEFIES DEMOCRATIC LEADERS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 25—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson asserts he "doesn't give a damn" what Democratic chairman and state leaders think about the senatorial race and says he will run as an independent. Chairman Clyde Shaw of Cincinnati declared the party has no control of the Buckeye delegation to the national convention and "I'm for Bricker all the way."

Neither of the U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft backers [illegible] nor U. S. Treasurer W. A. Julian of Cincinnati, Ferguson declared, would oppose Bricker. Both have been mentioned as possible successors for the "favorite son" candidacy.

"I wish the Democratic committee [illegible] would [illegible] a date and I'm going to pass a slate of delegates," he said upon his return from Washington where he conferred with national Democratic heads. "I don't think Charles Sawyer will run. If he does I think he will get whipped."

Ferguson said selection of members for the national committee would be the basis on any fight that might develop since all delegates pledged should be committed to President Roosevelt for a fourth term.

His group, Ferguson disclosed, will vote for Albert A. Horstman of Dayton, state central committee chairman to succeed Shaw as national committeeman, and Miss Mary Dickson of Steubenville, a member of the state central committee, to succeed Mrs. Mildred Jaxtey of Cleveland as national committeewoman.

It is possible to launch a canoe in the heart of Wales and paddle all the way to London with only one short portage.

Dimout Lifted, Night Games Return to N.Y.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 — Sports promoters in this big city of 7,000,000 looked forward hopefully today to a prosperous outdoor season this summer. There is no longer a dimout after dark.

Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia gave the go-head sign yesterday to Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Leo Bondy of the Giants for night baseball games. The Dodgers and Giants promptly announced they would play 14 games each at Ebbet field and the Polo Grounds.

The championship Yankees have no lighting equipment at the stadium.

The last night baseball games were played in New York in 1941. Their absence in the last two years caused a drop in attendance, despite twilight contests. The Dodgers, for example, averaged 28,532 per game for seven night games in 1941. In 1942 the average attendance for 12 games was 15,479 and only 8,366 for 11 home games last year.

The army lifted its dimout regulation last November, but the city imposed a partial "brown out" as a conservation measure.

Boxing Promoter Mike Jacobs was hopeful the lifting of restrictions would bring back big time boxing with its big parties.

Snatches of Sports

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 — The Phillies are coming up with a real double-no-hit pitcher this spring—but not just like Johnny Vander Meer. He's Albert "Stumpy" Verdelle, who pitched two consecutive no-hitters for Bordentown (N.J.) military institute a few years ago. Stumpy is a native of Punxsutawney, Pa., Runo Waddell's old hang-out, and claims he once faced the Yanks for two innings without giving a hit—anyone could do that by staying in the stands... Abe Greene says the N.B.A. is willing to consider Friday's Sammy Angott-Beau Jack fight a title fuss if the New York commission will agree.... Otherwise, he says, "We shall wind up in the same position we are in today.... With two champions" ..Isn't that assuming something?

All-Time Greats of Sports

NOTES FROM THE CLUBHOUSE

WITH AP SPORTS WRITERS

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK—AP Features Editor Chip Royal, the conductor of this column, started a nationwide furore recently when he began his poll to determine the three greatest all-time sports achievements.

Like everyone else who has rubbed wintergreen liniment on a shin-splint or taped a blistered finger, this sports scribe has very definite opinions on the matter.

My selection as the No. 1 sports achievement took no athletic skill at all. Only a hammer, four nails and a pair of peach baskets were needed.

They were combined one day in the winter of 1891 when Dr. James A. Naismith tacked the two baskets to the bottom of the indoor mezzanine, running track at Springfield College in Springfield, Mass., and invented basketball—the sport that now draws more spectators a year than any other sport in the United States.

Right there Dr. Naismith, who died a few years ago in Kansas, become the only out-and-out inventor of a major sport, all others being evolved from a forebear.

And the second greatest sports achievement this country ever saw was no more athletic than the first.

Event No. 2 took place in 1831 when a young, fuzz-faced draftsman named Alexander J. Cartwright drew a square with his quill pen on a sheet of white paper and later, using the drawing as the blue-print for a playing field, gave dignity and substance to the "One-Old-Cat" game his friend — Abner Doubleday — had devised from rounders that spring at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Cartwright's layout was 90 feet from base to base—a distance that never has been changed and his contribution was known as a "square" until years later when the magnates set the square on end to provide space for seats near the playing field.

That's how the square became a diamond, baseball was born and the United States ultimately got to know Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Rogers Hornsby, Dizzy Dean and thousands of others.

And the third greatest sports achievement? I'll bequeath the honor to the nameless individual who brought to the United States a set of rules governing English football—a sport in existence in one variety or other since 500 B. C. when the Spartans called it harpaston.

Rutgers and Princeton decided in 1865 that a game could be made of football kicking and on Nov. 13, 1869, they played the first intercollegiate contest.

From that humble beginning the United States got to know A. A. Stagg, Walter Eckersall, Willie Heston, Red Grange, Nile Kinnick, Tommy Harmon and the location of South Bend, Ind.

Maybe they are not the greatest achievements but if they hadn't happened the national sports pages today probably would be devoted to checkers and dominoes.

Odds on Fight About Even

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25—The odds on Ike Williams' chances of winning his 33rd consecutive victory when he meets Bob Montgomery in a 12-rounder at Convention hall tonight have been hammered down to almost even money.

Prior to the weighing in ceremonies today the odds were down to 6 to 5, still in the Bobcat's favor however. The Philadelphia lightweight held a 2 to 1 advantage in the betting two weeks ago.

Backers of the 23-year-old dark skinned Williams maintain he will take the Bobcat in his stride, even though the local fighter has a three pound weight advantage.

Both fighters have a great deal at stake. A win for Williams will assure him of top billing in every major fight club in the nation which would bring with it top earnings.

A win for the Bobcat would assure a top gate for his return bout with Champion Beau Jack sometime in March and a scheduled meeting with Bummy Davis next month.

Some 20,000 fight fans are expected to pay upwards of $50,000 to see the two lightweights in action.

MORROW CO. CAGE TOURNEY DATES SET

Special to The Star

EDISON, Jan. 24—The annual Morrow County basketball tournament will be held in the Edison gymnasium Feb. 18, 19 and 26, it was decided at a meeting of county school superintendents last week. Drawings for first round games will be made the week immediately preceding the tourney's inaugural clashes.

Semi-final games will be staged on the second night of tournament competition. The championship final is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 26. As a preliminary to the final tussle, the two Morrow county reserve teams with the best records will square off for the unofficial county Junior Varsity title.

Chairman of the committee in charge of tournament arrangements is Supt. Roy Graham. Other committee members are Supt. C. H. Radcliff of Johnsville and Supt. E. E. Bowman of Iberia.

Employed to officiate tourney games are Carl Hopkins of Delaware Willis High school and former Mt. Gilead High coach, and J. Friendly of Ohio Wesleyan university. Donald Coffman of Chesterville will serve as official scorer and H. L. Shellinger of Cardington as head timekeeper.

TO PLAY McNEILL

NEW YORK, Jan. 25—Ensign Ted Schroeder, USN, national tennis champion in 1942, will compete in the war bond tennis program here Friday. He will play Lt. (JG) Don McNeill, national titleholder in 1940.

O. S. U. Sophomore Star Ties for First in Scoring Race

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 25—Lee Grate, Ohio State's sensational 6 ft. 4 in. sophomore forward, zoomed into a tie for first place in the Big Ten scoring race last night as he led the Buckeyes to their third conference victory, an 83-41 drubbing of Chicago.

Sinking 10 field goals and five free throws, the star of last year's freshman tacked 25 points to his previous 60 and now is deadlocked with Stan Patrick of Illinois for top honors in the point-getting department.

Grate, who is 4-F in the draft, has the more impressive record, however. His 25 points were achieved in four games while Patrick required six. Inasmuch as the Illini are idle this week and Ohio will meet Michigan in a two-game set at Ann Arbor Friday and Saturday, Grate can be expected to run up a comfortable margin of leadership.

The next two contenders, Paul Hoffman and Chuck Hanz of Purdue, with 75 and 72 points respectively, also will meet no conference competition this week.

College with 11 Men Enrolled Turns Out 7 for Cage Team

By HAROLD HARRISON
Associated Press Writer

DANVILLE, Ind.—There's an old saying one-about that when-ever five Indiana boys get together they form a basketball team and that's just about what has happened at Central Normal college.

Central Normal has a male enrollment of exactly 11—and seven of them have enough interest to form a team that is playing a schedule of 19 games against college and service teams.

What's the matter with the other four?

That question brings a chuckle from Coach Glenn Johnson, a veteran of 22 years of teaching basketball.

"Well, there is something wrong with them," he replies.

"Two," he says, "don't can't play" and the other two are physically unfit for the sport. The two who "can't play" came out for the team but they lacked ability.

Five in 4-F

Of the seven who form the squad, five have a 4-F draft classification and two are 17-year-olds. One of the 4-F's is George McCool, Ben Davis [illegible] of 14 months with the [illegible]

McCool, on his last [illegible] jump before being assigned overseas duty, was plunged [illegible] wise as he stepped from plane and the force of the [illegible] from the propeller burst [illegible] drums. He was discharged as he was ready to sail for [illegible] eign duty.

Only one member of the [illegible] has had any previous college experience. He is Robert [illegible] of Arcadia, Ind. He played Central Normal last year. [illegible] Bradford of Avon, Ind., [illegible] member of the freshman [illegible] The other five have had only [illegible] school experience.

"But we're having a lot of fun," says Johnson. "We certainly didn't want to give up. That's what our enemies wanted."

And they don't come too tough for Johnson's "seven come-lately" team.

Three-Man Game

Practice with only seven men offers no problem to Johnson.

"We play three-man basketball," he explains. Only half the floor is used in three-man basketball.

The problem of personal fouls, of course, is a big one. In a game against Franklin, two players were ejected on personals and Johnson says, "I don't know what we would have done if we had lost another."

He quickly adds, however, that "we have to play carefully—that's the way basketball should be played. There is no point in giving away points on free throws."

This is Johnson's second year at Central Normal—a school which in the past has had as high as 100 men out for basketball. Two years ago he coached at Technical High in Indianapolis and for the 12 years prior to that he coached at Hardwick College in New York and at Mansfield State Teachers College, Mansfield, Pa.

Johnson has an edge on most coaches. When anyone asks him how many turn out for his team he can always say:

"Oh, about 64 per cent of the male enrollment."

WANT TREES FOR YOUR FARM?

Trees to be distributed in 1944 in the unit tree planting program have been received and are being heeled in at the Marietta state nursery.

These trees are distributed to farmers, farm groups and persons who agree to be responsible for their planting and care as a part of the Ohio division of conservation and natural resources' 15-point program. The varieties provided are wildlife food-bearing and cover species and they aid the farmer in preventing soil erosion.

The game management section is receiving applications for these tree units now, according to A. W. Short, game management chief.

DEER STATISTICS

A report made by Hayden Olds, assistant chief of the game management section, shows that 8,266 deer permits were issued for the deer hunting season in December. Of this number 5,854 sought special permits for hunting on the Roosevelt-Shawnee supervised area. A total of 164 deer were taken. Average weight was 161 lbs. and the largest deer weighed 230 pounds. The report on the successful deer season shows that 00 buck shot was used by the greatest number of nimrods.

GIFT FROM SOLDIER

The Ohio conservation division is always pleased when it sells a hunting or fishing license but it has no provision for the acceptance of gifts. However, Conservation Commissioner Don Waters and the entire division staff got a great deal more satisfaction out of a letter from an Ohio boy overseas than the $10 which he enclosed represented. The compliment he paid the division was worth fully as much as the money.

This corporal in North Africa stated that he has followed the work of the division of conservation and wanted to show his appreciation by sending $10 for the division's operating fund. He complimented Commissioner Waters on the method of holding county conservation committee meetings to secure sentiment on conservation matters which is transmitted to the conservation commission and to Commissioner Waters through farmer-sportsmen representatives. "You are operating the Ohio division of conservation on a democratic basis and that's what we are fighting this war to maintain," the soldier said.

"And we are determined to work just a little harder and to make sure that we operate in such a way that there will be good hunting and good fishing for these boys when they return," was Commissioner Waters' comment after reading the letter and asking the accounting section whether a gift of this kind can be legally accepted.

RABBIT SEASON CLOSED

The closing of the rabbit hunting season in Ohio on Jan. 11 rung the curtain down on a successful and somewhat unusual hunting season. For one thing, it included Ohio's first deer hunting season in half a century. The inland trapping season closed Jan. 15.

Although it had been thought that the war would greatly reduce the number of sportsmen who would take to the fields, many in the armed services on a furlough found a little time for hunting and those engaged in war work did some hunting, although they had to reduce the number of hunting trips taken. Conservation Commissioner Don Waters reports that the reduction in hunting and fishing license sales will not exceed approximately 10 per cent for 1943.

Thousands visited southern Ohio where three counties were thrown open to deer hunting in December and 164 bucks were bagged and a lot of folks enjoyed, for the first time, the magnificent and different scenery to be found in that section of the state.

Pheasant hunting was good, although in some areas they "sat tight" and were hard to flush, especially by those not hunting with dogs. Grouse, found in southern Ohio hill counties, are coming into their own. Deer hunters in southern Ohio reported seeing many grouse and squirrels.

Pheasants and cottontails took the brunt of the shooting and most nimrods were satisfied with results.

St. Mary Parochial High school will meet Fostoria St. Wendelin's cagers tonight at 8:30 on the Edison Junior High hardwoods.

ORDERS SUSPENSION OF GUARD OFFICER

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 25—Lt. Col. Harry N. Potts, widely known officer in the Ohio state guard who serves as superintendent and property custodian of the Columbus state arsenal, was suspended along with three arsenal employes today by Adj. Gen. Donald F. Pancoast who reported an inventory showed property shortages.

The others were: Ernest R. McCormick, $130-a-month mechanic, Wilfred Arnold, laborer; and Fred M. Findley, watchman, both paid $120 monthly. All reside in Columbus. Notice of the 30-day disciplinary suspensions without pay was given the state civil service commission.

Pancoast said Potts is a $200-a-month unclassified employe. The adjutant-general said he would not know how much property, mostly state guard equipment, was missing until he had completed his investigation.

He said he issued the suspensions because of apparent laxness on the part of those named. He did not accuse the quartet of taking any property and said no further action was contemplated until completion of his inquiry.

Some federal property also was stored in the arsenal but Pancoast said apparently none of that was missing.

Potts, a former captain in the Youngstown company of the old national guard, had no comment.

The Marion Star reports that a committee of citizens hurling shotguns succeeded in clearing the trees by... alas, the birds hopped to buildings ledges where about a lot of shooting went for nothing.

In Indianapolis the starlings have shown a preference for the Courthouse clock. They pounce on the big hands of the Hoosier Big Ben in such numbers that they stop the clock.

Now that starlings [illegible] the sky in a large area of northern United States and Canada it is difficult to believe that 50 years ago there were just a few in New York City. Someone brought in the birds from England. At first they didn't do well here, but after a time they thrived.

It's an old story. Animals and plants, removed from their natural habitats and rescued from their natural enemies and checks sometimes increase on a calamitous scale. The gypsy moth which threatened New England forests with destruction was an importation. Rabbits taken into Australia multiplied so rapidly they laid fields and plains bare. Millions of dollars were spent in checking them.

Much discussion has taken place on why the starlings come in from the fields at night. Some suggest they select the lighted roosts of cities as more safe from hawks and owls. Others say the warmth of sheltered ledges lures them to our windows.

That's a proper subject for speculation in Cleveland and Marion, but Indianapolis nature students want to know first what time it is.

STATE EXAMINERS CHECK AKRON OFFICE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 25—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson announced today he was hurrying six crack examiners to Akron where the Summit county treasurer's office appeared "out of balance."

Ferguson, who was in Akron released a formal statement through his office here asserting a complete examination of the treasurer's office was to begin at once.

Ferguson's statement said that on the basis of a preliminary examination "it appears the treasurer's office is out of balance for a substantial amount."

"Whether the shortage represents errors or the withholding of tax money cannot be determined until a thorough examination has been made," the auditor added. "State examiners will start to work immediately to rush a complete audit of the treasurer's books so that the examination can be brought to a successful conclusion as soon as possible."

At Akron, Summit County Treasurer C. W. Frank said his office would cooperate with Ferguson's examiners. He expressed regret that his chief and, Deputy Treasurer Wilbur Wohlgemuth, is ill.

Frank said Wohlgemuth, as his first cashier, was in charge of accounting of funds handled by the treasurer's office.

AGREE ON CHANGE IN TAX MEASURE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25—Senate and house conferees on the $2,275,600,000 tax bill agreed tentatively today on a senate amendment designed to remove the "fortune telling" element from the estimates of future income required under the pay-as-you-go law.

Merchants, farmers and commission salesmen have complained of difficulty in estimating a year's income in advance and the 6 per cent penalty for sub tantial underestimates.

The senate amendment relieves the taxpayer of the penalty provided he makes a payment on quarter at least equal to the quarterly levy on his taxable income for the preceding year.

Also tentatively accepted was a senate amendment which would exclude as taxable income any mustering-out payments made to military and naval personnel. A bill providing $100 and $300 mustering-out pay now is waiting final congressional action.

Funeral Plans Made for Accident Victims

Funeral services for Albert E. Sisson Jr. and for his two-months-old daughter, Catherine Sue Sisson, victims of a train-auto accident east of Marion early yesterday, will be conducted in Columbus Thursday. The double rites will be held in the Cook & Son funeral home there and burial will be in Obetz cemetery. The bodies were removed from the Merle H. Hughes mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue and from the M. H. Gunder & Sons funeral home on West Center street yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Sisson and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Knoblaugh of Columbus, were moving the Sisson family from Sandusky where Mr. Sisson was employed for a time to Columbus, original home of the Sissons, when the accident happened. The conditions of Mrs. Sisson and Mrs. Knoblaugh, seriously injured, were reported as fair today at Marion City hospital where they were brought for treatment.

Earl K. Reed Funeral To Be Held Thursday

Funeral services for Earl Kelly Reed, 62, of 796 Woodrow avenue will be conducted Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Merle H. Hughes mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue by Rev. Dana M. Austin of Fite Memorial Baptist church. Burial will be in Forest Glen Memorial park. Friends may call at the funeral home. Mr. Reed died in City hospital at noon Monday following an illness of three months.

You, too, can create this opportunity simply by capitalizing on the retail selling experience you already have. Just do what any ambitious woman who is ready to make a fresh start in a new community, can do today.

Write a simple letter, state your age, business experience, personal background and ambition. An interview can be arranged with a representative of this old established, nationally respected company, which operates leading millinery departments in mid-western department stores.

Accident Records Show Late Saturday Afternoons Most Dangerous for Drivers

If you own a car and still have gasoline enough to drive it, watch your driving on Saturdays between the hours of 4 and 6 p. m.

Records filed in the office of the Marion safety service director shows that this two-hour period each week is the time when most traffic accidents occur. Records last year show that 114 of the 532 reported for the year occurred then. Fridays during the same hours, runs a close second with 100. Only 59 of the accidents occurred on Tuesdays.

The yearly total included delayed deaths and accidents not previously reported. Of the 532 pedestrians numbered 46, and 443 involved other motor vehicles, five were with trains, 20 involved bicycles, 20 occurred with fixed objects and four were miscellaneous. Only two fatalities were reported. One resulted from a car and one from a train accident. Total accidents for the previous year were 534, with two killed. Of the 1942 total, 88 persons were injured, most were only slight injuries, and in 1942 the total of injured was 185.

According to the traffic summary, more men than women were involved in accidents. Figures are as follows: all accident victims, 21 male, 11 female; pedestrians, 20 male, 16 female; bicyclists, 8 male, 2 female.

Another interesting fact is that 247 accidents occurred during the daylight and 159 after dark. The business district leads with 251 occurring there. Accidents in the residential district reached 221. Only two were near a school zone or playground.

A mistaken idea of who had the right-of-way accounted for 69 traffic mishaps and 499 were listed as having other causes. Of the total accidents for the year, 745 drivers were men, 131 women. The majority of mishaps, 220, happened before the car had obtained a speed of 10 miles per hour. The least, 15, occurred when the car was running between 31 and 40 miles.

WHEAT, RYE SHOW ADVANCES TODAY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 25—Wheat and rye futures displayed considerable strength today, rye leading the upturn with gains of more than a cent at times on good commission house demand. The oats trade, however, remained light and prices were firm.

Local operators were buyers in the wheat pit and offerings in both wheat and rye markets were small since the trade was not inclined to take the selling side in view of the disappointing moisture.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

I TURNED away from Carolyn with a contempt in my manner that I did not have to exert much effort to assume.

"You had better come in with me, Mary," I said. "Perhaps Halloran can tell us how to help him. We shall have to hurry, for all this time our Carolyn has been waited, and it is urgent that some of us get over there."

Carolyn Repentant

"Oo! oh!" Carolyn wailed, and her voice betrayed an agony of repentance. "Don't punish me like this, Auntie Madge! I know I acted like an awful heel, but you know that I really didn't mean what I said. Please let me go with you! I promise on my honor, hope to die, that you won't have a bit more trouble with me."

She had seized my arm frantically with both hands and was shaking me as she pleaded. With a deft movement, Mary grasped her hands, detached them from my arm, and held her off at arms' length.

"Gently, gently! darling!" she admonished lightly. "This isn't the third act, only the first. Save your ammunition. And let me whisper a secret into your shell-like ear. Auntie Madge isn't half as peeved as she appears to be. But she isn't in a mood to stand any nonsense. So the quicker you calm down, the better for you and everybody else."

Speaks Curtly

"Please sit down, both of you," I said curtly. "I must get to Halloran, Noel, be ready to come in next. And Carolyn, if you really mean what you say, you may go over with me as we first planned. But I can't have any more tantrums. Let Mary give you a few pointers on acting the role for which Halloran has made you up."

Carolyn's meek, "All right, Auntie Madge," followed me into the next room where Halloran awaited me. With swift, deft movements he did things to my face and eyes which would have kept even the people fondest of me from recognizing me, unless they happened to be skilled in make-up themselves.

"There!" Halloran said as he finished. "I think that's foolproof." Then he added gallantly: "It's a pleasure to make you up, Mrs. Graham. You have the true actress quality; you unconsciously assume the character you are meant to play."

"Thank you," I said flushing. "That's a very gratifying compliment. And now, have you a uniform of any sort which Mr. Veritzen can wear? Of course, under ordinary circumstances I know it cannot be authentic if it is of certain kinds, but you know my father has a great deal of privilege—"

Will Get Something

"I understand," Halloran said. "I'll be able to get something for Mr. Veritzen all right."

"Fit him out with a grayish wig," I directed. "I want him to look a middle-aged officer of some sort."

"Yes, I can do that," he said, and I put a quick query.

"Have you more than one uniform?"

"Yes, I have two."

"Then give the second to the other young man, Mr. Ronald Brixton, when he comes in," I said, "and give him a similar wig. Only let the faces be entirely different. I want Mr. Brixton to be entirely unrecognizable. He is the fiance of the young woman we are attempting to rescue, and I do not wish her to betray her recognition of him, as she would be very likely to do if he were not disguised.

"As soon as you have finished with Mr. Veritzen," I went on, "make Mrs. Veritzen even if Mr. Brixton is the same. And please do it as quickly as possible with Mr. Veritzen. I want to take him and Mrs. Brixton over to the restaurant in which we dined."

"I will, Mary," Mr. Halloran answered. "But when I have finished with Mr. Brixton, what do you want me to do?"

Snap Decision

"I wish you would stay right here. I am making a snap decision," I said slowly, "for some unforeseen luck. Please hold yourself in readiness for anything, even the impossible summons to come over to the restaurant if I should send for you."

"I'll do that," he said, and then I went out to the sitting room.

"If you'll go in next, Noel," I said hurriedly, "as soon as he's finished with you, we'll go over."

"All right," Noel returned, and I turned toward Adams, who had come up to me evidently with something on his mind.

"There are four people waiting to see you in the front room, Mrs. Graham," he said.

"Four?" I countered, as I turned toward the door leading to the other room. "I expect only three."

"I'll go with you then," Adams said, quietly.

But when we had entered the front room, I saw there was no need of his protection. For to my astonishment and quick alarm for his safety, the fourth person making up the quartet with Ronald, Dr. Twitchell, and Katharine, whom I expected, was Jack Birkett. Katharine's husband and my brother-cousin, whose life and secret my father had guarded so zealously in the hideaway.

YOUR HEALTH

Whooping Cough

THE SEASON for whooping cough is at hand. It begins in the Northern States in January and February. In the Southern States the peak of incidence is in May. And the season for the this disease lasts a long time, running into the summer months. Indeed in epidemics many new cases occur in the early summer months.

Inexperienced parents are likely to regard it as a mild childhood disease. But it is far from that. The little patients may become very sick. Complications, such as pneumonia, make it very dangerous. So precautions and proper treatment are always in order.

The prevention of whooping cough by the use of pertussis vaccine is fairly, although not universally, successful. The vaccine should be given between the ages of six and twelve months. A vaccine and an antigen are also used in the treatment, but not with any great measure of success.

A new treatment which will be somewhat surprising to most doctors is the use of adrenal cortex. At least it is surprising to me, and I don't see how anyone thought of it. But it has a good theoretical basis I admit now that it has been explained to me.

Not the least dangerous of the symptoms of whooping cough is the vomiting. This comes at the end of prolonged coughing fits and is simply a reflex due to gagging.

It is very depleting and especially because it causes a great loss of chlorides from the body. This may be the cause of the slow development of immunity in the disease, for notoriously it is of long duration, and may last several months. The adrenal cortex helps to fix chlorids in the body. That is the theoretical basis for its use, and, as I say, it seems to me sound.

At least it works in practice. Studying over three hundred cases of whooping cough, Dr. Lewis Jacobs gave over a hundred of them no specific treatment at all. These were the controls. In these the cough lasted for 10 weeks, the whooping for five weeks and the vomiting three and a half weeks.

Other groups were given adrenal cortex and other persons treated with hardly any improvement in the duration of these symptoms over the controls.

The group to whom adrenal cortex was given showed that coughing lasted at most four and a half weeks (as contrasted with 10 weeks for the controls), the whooping lasted two to three weeks (controls five weeks), and the vomiting one to two weeks (controls three and a half weeks).

Old fashioned treatments should not be abandoned while giving the new remedy. The standby is a snug abdominal binder to give the whooper something to cough against. Fresh air and small feedings rather than large are also helpful.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

K. W. S.:How often should a person with a rheumatic heart and mitral stenosis be checked up by a doctor?

Answer:—In my opinion, only when symptoms appear—the important symptom being shortness of breath on very slight exertion. I do not think these people should be reminded that they are invalids. But if you want a schedule, supposing the condition is discovered at the age of 15, the patient should be examined at these ages—25, 35, 40, 45, 47, 49, 51, 52, etc.

L. M. K.:—A friend of mine who has a cancer is going to a doctor who gives her treatment but he does not believe in X-rays. She is spending a lot of money, although the family is not well off.

Answer:—Cancer is treated only by surgery, X-ray or radium. A doctor who does not use one or two of those is a fake.

In World War I, the Germans maintained a special hospital at Jena to care for dogs wounded in war service.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, Jan. 29

THERE ARE certain periods of progress in business and affairs generally that may depend upon two persons performing different and unlike parts at the same time. Such a period is now at hand, and success will depend largely upon how well each person plays his part. Some will be inclined to make a big display and to take chances on impossible ventures. Others will be inclined to be timid and to hesitate at opportune moments. Avoid extremes and depressions. Avoid the extravagant and disappointments. Don't worry unnecessarily and don't attempt to accomplish impossibles. Under these conditions success will succeed.

Those whose birthday it is may be called upon to exercise all their latent abilities. Personal pursuits are subject to bring to bear on practical and unfamiliar conditions of business and social affairs which seem unfavorable. Particularly in this physical contacts and mental movements may be difficult to reconcile with attitude of indifference. However, it is only necessary to take out of this inertia and make plans for constructive programs for more auspicious times, most probably tomorrow.

A child born on this day should have much intelligence, with original and progressive mind, logical and decisive, but may have to surmount obstacles.
